

Policies and Terms:

Once you land at your airport, use the links on the home page for simple steps on where to go to get picked up by your assigned driver. The links are PHL pickup area, JFK pickup area, Ewr Pickup area or click here www.cheapairportshuttl.net if landing at other airports, we will explain to you where to go.

Luggages: It's the responsibility of passengers to keep track of what and how many bags they load in or out of our vehical. Cheap Airport Shuttle accepts no responsibility for loss or damage to passenger's baggage, hooks or any other type of attachments to any type of bags while being loaded in or out of our vehical. It's the passengers responsibility to be aware of any wear and tear that they may have, whether they are packed lightly or over packed. Cheap Airport shuttle is not responsible for damage to fragile items, spoilage of perishables, or any other irreplaceable or replaceble items that are packed by you.

Cancellations: need to be made 24 in advance by email (cheapairportshuttle@yahoo.com), or by call or text if you have the capability 267-407-4260, or through our quote/reservation contact page on www.cheapairportshuttle.net. As with any service, if we arrive to your location (any location) to pick you up and you are not present, and we cannot reach you, we consider that a no-show and we will make every attempt to collect the full fair from you in person sameday, or payments by credit card is not refundable. It is passengers responsibility not to loose our contact info.

Incidents: We report incidents of illegal activity or behavior to the appropriate authorities. Smoking, drug, alcohol intoxication, possession of any type of weapons are prohibited. Any rude behavior that puts our drivers, or dispatch in an uncomfortable position has the right to terminate service(no refunds) or phone call.

Safety: Passengers are made aware in advance by reading this document to watch their head, and other parts of their body when entering, sitting or exiting our vehical. Should a passenger hit their elbow, bump their head, passengers control lightness/tightness of seatbelts or any other mobil activity controlled by passenger alone eliminates Cheap airport shuttle for any injury caused by passenger wether vehical is moving at safe speed or at standstill or stopped.

Payments: Overpayments are considered tips. Passengers are responsible for counting their funds to pay to the driver as it is the drivers responsibility to ensure the correct payment is made. However, payments are sometimes counted at the end of the drivers day. He/She may or may not realize and overpayment is made until later in the day. Once passenger exits themselves and luggages from the vehical overpayments are not returned and is considered tips.

Delays: Passengers should be aware that inclimate weather/traffic, technical issues or other unforeseeable circumstances beyond our control may occasionally result in delays or cancellations to our service. Passengers will be informed ahead of time and will have an option to continue to use our service or find other means of transportation. If during a long distance trip while your'e in the vehical and any of these circumstances arise, since part of the trip has been completed it is only fair that part of the fair is calculated and paid by passenger, regardless if some situation may result in passenger having to take other transportation. Example, if you are traveling 2hours, and a circumstance arise within an 1hr 15min of the drive, then you would pay what we charge for 1hr 15min. If you are traveling local and a circumstance arise, then only gas fee will be paid by passenger if a trip cannot be completed
